FROM THE COMMITTEE

Traffic and congestion. That's the topic on everyone's mind, according to feedback we gathered when putting together TAPBA's new business plan. If you are a Peninsula resident you won't be surprised.

Recently we held a public meeting to talk about the issue. We had a team from Auckland Transport there, plus several Henderson Massey Local Board members and Phil Twyford, MP for Te Atatū, along with members of the public. Following that meeting, the local board offered to spearhead a community planning project, acting as facilitator of discussion between our community, TAPBA and several agencies including Auckland Council planning, Auckland Transport, Watercare and Waka Kotahi.

The aim is to develop a comprehensive vision for Te Atatū, tackling key issues including intensification, traffic, and communications between the Local Board, agencies, and the wider community.

While we can't promise to solve what is an enormous issue for Te Atatū Peninsula, we are hoping to mitigate some of the effects. Watch this space!

In this issue of Views on T.A.P. we look at how to log a job with Auckland Council when you find something that needs fixing in a public space. Read about some recent issues in Te Atatū South, on P5 & 6.

Crime is also something that was highlighted in TAPBA's planning process. It is affecting a lot of us, including Timi Tairi, who has organised a monthly public forum to try to make our community safer. His story is on P4.  Have you done your Christmas shopping? Try gifting home-made baking! Jackson's Milk Chocolate Macadamia Toffee recipe on P11 will delight the fussiest family member.

Need some inspiration in your garden this summer? Check out our Views on Gardening column, with Marisa Vodanovich. Find out how to prepare, what to plant, and how to care for your plants on P13.

By the time you read this edition, we will have put up our six metre Christmas tree, wreaths and new this year – some festive garlands. A big thank you goes, as always, to our friends at Tasti Foods who store our tree and wreaths for free during the year. Having this kind of support makes such a big difference to a small business association like ours, and we are very grateful.

Thank you for supporting our amazing retailers during the year. We wish for you and your family a safe, happy, relaxed festive season.

TAPBA Committee • All the best.

Welcome to The Tattooed Heart

After 19 years of life on K Road, The Tattooed Heart has moved to the suburbs.

Owner Adam Craft says he was tired of being in the city and is happy to be at his new location at The Point, 571 Te Atatū Road.

Adam who has been a tattoo artist for 30 years, lives in Te Atatū South with his young family, and his children go to school locally.

Adam Craft

" I'm tired of commuting and it is more convenient," says Adam. "The customers are happy. There's less craziness and more parking."

He says The Tattooed Heart has a strong following, and the shop has four full-time and two part-time tattooists, plus international guest artists coming through from overseas.

Adam describes it as a 'reputation store', which runs off appointments, although they can accept some walk-ins.

"Once word gets out around West Auckland, we will see more of the new clientele," he says. " It has been pretty steady with new people, as well as our old clients. "

"People will find us by reputation. Lots of people want tattoos out West." •

Incident Becomes Catalyst for Change

A violent incident has been the catalyst for a project promoting community connectedness in Te Atatū. Youth worker and advocate Timi Tairi says his teenaged son was waiting at a bus stop in Te Atatū Road, when he was punched in the face in an unprovoked attack.

This prompted Timi to gather interested people and organisations together for a discussion on how to promote safety and connectedness in the community.

An initial meeting was held and the group is planning to hold monthly meetings on the last Wednesday of every month, at the Baptist Church.

Timi says they had a good first discussion on possible security measures, and different incidents that had affected the community.

🔺 Timi Tairi

He says some of the ideas that came out of the discussion were widening the reach of neighbourhood watches, sourcing more volunteers for the existing CPNZ patrols, and adding more CCTV camera coverage - essentially strengthening and leveredging off tools that already exist.

Timi says strengthening relationships within the community is also important for Te Atatū. "Bringing back how it used to be here," he says.

Timi works in the suicide prevention space, teaching mental health and well-being through a Maori lense, using te whare tapawha.

He says our young people are worried about their own personal safety, as well as dealing with day to day concerns. "There are problems at the heart of families, he says. " I'm hoping to use my influence to help some of the whanau that might be at a disadvantage."

The next meeting will be announced widely through social media, or for more information, email: ttairi834@gmail.com •

Log a Job By Robynne Pringle

Have you spotted something in your neighbourhood that needs attention? If it is in a public space, chances are that you can log a job with Auckland Council to get it taken care of.

In my role, I log many jobs on behalf of the Te Atatū Peninsula Business Association from blocked drains and broken paving, to dumped rubbish.

As a resident in Te Atatū South, I also report things I find on my daily walks. Here are some examples of the range of problems that can be reported. Recently a section of paving was dug up by workmen in Flanshaw Road and replaced by new cement. Unfortunately, all the old broken up cement was dumped on top of the adjacent roadside garden, crushing plants. Left over wet cement was then poured over the top, effectively cementing the rubble together on top of the garden, preventing easy removal. Henderson Massey Local Board member Dan Collins is looking into the issue to find out who is responsible. Let's hope for a speedy resolution.

> Another issue investigated by Dan at the same time, is a permanent water leak in the middle of Flanshaw Road.

A trickle of water has been flowing for at least a year and has been left despite another leak on the berm opposite, being taken care off. However, Dan reports that the leak is in fact a natural spring! It has been decided that it will be left and monitored as at this stage it doesn't seem to be CONTINUED ON PAGE 6 damaging the road surface. This explains why the local sparrows enjoy drinking there – nice, fresh spring water!

A year ago while enjoying one of the wonderful local parks, Marlene Glade, I discovered a hole in the ground where a metal pipe running under the ground surface had rusted and collapsed inward.

The result was a hole the size and shape of a child's foot, with a jagged metal edge.

The result was a hole the size and shape of a child's foot, with a jagged metal edge. After logging a job, the response was prompt, and I met the assigned workman onsite. He immediately fenced off the area safely and a sample of the pipe was sent for testing. Unfortunately, that is where it remains. The safety fencing is broken down and sagging, the grass inside overgrown and the health and safety risk remains. The anniversary of the job was 10/11/22 and when I chased it up via the Auckland Council phone number, I was told that the job had been 'stood down' because it was too expensive to fix. I am currently engaging our friends on the local board again, to push for a solution. Hopefully persistence pays off.

EcoMatters Turns 21

With weather events impacting our lives more and more, it is good to know a West Auckland organisation is working with the community to mitigate the impact of the climate crisis.

Local charity EcoMatters Environment Trust is celebrating 21 years of community collaboration and action. The organisation's annual report for 2022-2023 shows that in the past year, more than 22,000 people rolled up their sleeves to, for example care for 160 hectares of land, keep more than 117 skip bins of waste out of landfill, and save nine and a half Olympic swimming pools worth of water.

Carla Gee, CEO of EcoMatters says that traditionally, reaching 21 signifies increased independence and responsibility and thanks to its strong foundations, EcoMatters is well placed to continue to make a difference for many more years to come.

Those strong local foundations have enabled the organisation to extend activities beyond our borders more recently, with two new bike hubs opening in Pakuranga and Onehunga and their Water Check service available city-wide.

Other EcoMatters achievements included removing 182,000 kgs of invasive weeds, supporting 4,790 bike repairs, turning 118,610 kgs of food scraps into nutrient-rich soil and gifting or selling to the community, 10,000 sustainable items, from reusable coffee cups to shower timers.

"This year, we saw poignant reminders of the profound impact of the climate crisis right here in our own backyards. These challenges opened more people's eyes to the need for transformative action, which is certainly reflected in these achievements," says Carla.

"We owe a huge debt of gratitude to the people who had the vision 21 years ago to bring EcoMatters into existence and to all those who have supported us since then, from funders to volunteers, team members to partner organisations. None of these achievements would be possible without them."

EcoMatters Matariki open day.

The Church is also hoping to hear from a generous carpenter who might be willing to build a kai stand to hold the summer produce.

The garden, which is planted and tended by volunteers, suffered a set-back earlier this year when a shed used to house tools, was broken into and the tools stolen. The shed was also severely damaged by someone, and so had to be removed. New tools have been purchased from Church funds.

VIEWS ON FOOD: WITH JACKSON MULLIGAN

Milk Chocolate Macadamia Toffee

Spread love and deliciousness with this sweet treat! Milk Chocolate coated macadamia toffee! This recipe makes the perfect holiday season gift. Pop it in a jar with a ribbon for a crowd-pleasing treat!

INGREDIENTS

- 1 cup chopped macadamias 1.5 cups organic golden sugar 1/2 cup water
- 4 tablespoons unsalted butter
- 1/4 teaspoon flaky sea salt (plus
- extra for sprinkling) 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda 350g milk chocolate buttons

METHOD

1. Prepare a baking sheet by lining it with unbleached parchment paper or a silicone baking mat. Set it aside.

2. In a heavy-bottomed saucepan, combine the sugar and water. Heat over mediumhigh heat, stirring until the sugar dissolves. Once the sugar has dissolved, stop stirring and allow the mixture to boil. You can swirl the pan occasionally to ensure even cooking.

3. Cook the sugar syrup until it reaches a deep golden amber colour. This should take about 5-7 minutes. Be careful not to let it become too dark, as it can quickly burn. 4. Once the syrup reaches the desired colour, reduce the heat to low and add the butter and flaky sea salt. Stir gently until the butter is completely melted and incorporated into the syrup.

5. Quickly stir in <sup>3</sup>⁄<sub>4</sub> cup of chopped macadamia, ensuring they are evenly coated with the caramelized sugar mixture.

6. Remove the saucepan from the heat and stir in the vanilla extract and baking soda. Be cautious as the mixture will bubble up when you add the baking soda.

7. Immediately pour the mixture onto the prepared baking sheet. Use a spatula or the back of a wooden spoon to spread it out into an even layer.

8. Allow the macadamia toffee to cool and harden at room temperature or in the fridge for at least an hour.

9. Once it's completely cool and firm, cut into squares or rectangles.

10. Add the chocolate to a microwave-proof bowl and heat for 30sec increments stirring in between bursts with a dry spoon until the chocolate is melted.

11. Use a fork to dunk the toffee into the chocolate, tap the fork on the edge of the bowl to shake off excess chocolate, and return coated pieces to the parchment paper, sprinkle with excess macadamia nuts for extra pizzazz. Repeat for all pieces of toffee and then return the tray to the fridge to set the chocolate.

Share with friends and family and if they last long enough store in an airtight container.

Views on Gardening

The weather is warming and there have been more sunshine hours too, all good signs for the approach of summer!

With the right preparation, your garden can flourish, providing you with fresh, nutritious produce to enjoy throughout the season.

Preparations

If the fickle spring weather put you off getting out into the garden you still have time to get your garden ready for growing and production. You're probably best to be planting plants now though rather than sowing seeds, if you're wanting to eat sooner!

Before planting be sure to remove any weeds and turn in some fertilising elements like sheep/ chicken pellets, blood and bone and compost into the soil. This will set you up for having the most vigorous and healthy plants.

Planting

You can get busy planting a wide selection of yummy goodies now: Salad ingredients: basil, capsicum, chillies, cucumber, dill, eggplant, lettuce, mesclun, parsley, radish, rocket, tomatoes, spring onion and sweetcorn.

> Veg: Beans, beetroot, carrots, celery, courgettes, kumara, leeks, parsnips, pumpkin, silverbeet and spinach.

Fruit: there are lots of passionfruit available in garden centres now – a favourite from my childhood! And there's still time to drop in berry plants in time for summer harvesting: blackberries, blueberries, boysenberries, raspberries and strawberries. with Marisa Vodanovich

Flowers: you can achieve a great show of colour while also encouraging pollinators into your garden with asters, ageratum, calendula, chamomile, cosmos, dahlias, marigolds, nasturtiums, petunias, salvias, sunflowers, swan plants and zinnias.

Aftercare

As the weather warms and the winds blow you need to keep an eye on your garden and water regularly. Laying mulch in and around your plants will also help them to retain the water and not dry out.

If you have tall or climbing plants like tomatoes or beans remember to add in a supporting stake to help them rise up.

It can get too hot for some crops, like lettuce, so you might want to consider installing some shading or companion planting with a tall crop that will shadow them alongside.

The best time to be out in the garden, for you and the plants, is either early morning or in the evening twilight hours. The plants are less stressed by heat from the sun and you'll be able to enjoy the time planting, weeding, checking and harvesting the bounty from your wee patch.

Happy Spring gardening! Marisa For more inspiration visit: www. urbanfloralfarmlet.co.nz

Seasons Greetings, Can you believe it! Only weeks till Christmas! Here are some reminders for our christmas break.

If you purchase a real Christmas tree, it's a good idea to saw the stump and put it in a bucket with water, so the moisture keeps the tree from drying out fast.

Christmas lights are fine to be used on a multiboard, as they don't draw too much power, like irons, fridges, microwaves etc. These should always be plugged directly into the wall outlet. Hopefully our heaters will be put away for the rest of the year, but summer does mean we may be using our BBQs more.

Ensure your BBQ fittings are tight and secure, and there's at least 1 metre of clear space around the BBQ. Use the soap bubble test to make sure there are no leaks.

Most fire fatalities occur in rental properties without working smoke alarms. For this reason, we are asking that you make sure, not only that you have smoke alarms (landlords must supply them for tenants) but that they are working. It's the tenants responsibility to maintain the installed smoke alarm(s), including replacing batteries (if required), for the duration of their tenancy.

Have a wonderful holiday, stay safe.

He Waka Eke Noa (Everyone in one canoe, no exceptions) •

Hello everyone,

The summer and festive seasons are bearing down on us fast after a long wet and cold winter. We are all busting to get out and about to soak it all up. There will be plenty happening whether its planned or just spur of the moment.

Please remember to take it easy and consider yours and others safety. This can include being at the beach or socialising after hours. Always have a sober driver and know your limits whether you are at the beach or in a bar.

House security is always a big one coming into the warmer season with windows and doors being left open for cooling.

Unfortunately this is an open invitation to the opportunist burglars who will always take advantage. Cameras, window stays, fences, burglar alarms and a dog are good prevention measures.

A street or local facebook page can help keep tabs on suspicious people in your neighbourhood and are accessible by almost everyone.

To help with visibility keep all your trees and hedges around the house trimmed and lock all valuables away whether it is a bicycle or diamond ring.

Never leave valuables in your vehicle as it only takes a few seconds for thieves to enter and leave with your most prized possessions. Alarms, steering locks and immobilisers are the best ways to keep your vehicle secure as car thieves will look for an easier option.

Here's wishing you all a safe and happy Christmas.

Cheers
